1. Soviet Army women officers are in Rumania today for the express purpose of supervising the billeting and feeding of the Soviet troops. Most of the women officers are in uniform. There numbers are not large.
2. Soviet women in civilian clothes are to be found in Rumania working as secretaries, translators and office clerks. These women live in private homes which have been requisitioned for their use.
3. Prior to 1949 the Soviets in Constanta maintained a high school for the younger persons in their families but since the summer of 1950 it has been noted that the Soviets are gradually transferring their families to the Soviet Union.
4. Soviet soldiers and citizens in general deal only with Rumanian civilians in black market negotiations. They exchange clothing, wood and drugs for lei.
